Dear Parents/Guardians,

The Moonachie School District cordially invites you to observe classes at the Robert L. Craig School as a way of celebrating American Education Week.

Dates:        Monday, November 16, 2009
                      Tuesday, November 17, 2009

Time:         9:45a.m. – 12:00 noon

This week, schools and communities across the nation join together to celebrate American Education Week. Created in 1921, in response to a 25 percent illiteracy rate among World War I soldiers, the event began as an attempt by the National Education Association (NEA) and the American Legion to generate public support for education. Today, American Education Week, sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education and 12 national organizations, continues that effort by providing opportunities for strengthening the spirit of community within schools and developing partnerships between schools and local communities.

In a cooperative effort, staff, administration and the Board of Education are committed to building a strong foundation for the advancement of learning and for providing a motivating and positive environment to meet the diverse needs and abilities of our students.

It is our hope the time in school will further your appreciation of the Robert L. Craig educational program. In order not to disrupt classes, please remember to leave your "little ones" home with the babysitter, and to limit your time in each classroom to approximately fifteen minutes.

Sincerely,

Mark Solimo
Superintendent
